Foreword

High school is four fast-moving years of hard work and fun. It's practicing for choral concerts or marching with the band. School is fretting over chemistry or physics, wrestling with a term paper, working on algebra, or just day dreaming in study hall. It's cramming for exams at noon or loafing in class. It's a contest when weeks of work and worry culminate, hopefully in a placing. High school is making a class float for the homecoming parade and decorating for proms and parties. It's a play contest or a choral festival. It's the big game, and the conference meet. It's setting new records and challenging the old ones. School means friends, strong companionship, and minor squabbles. It's teachers with a warm smile and a helping hand. High school is an academic challenge which is met by each promising new freshman. It's a way of life and all that you want it to be.

The 1966 Wyhian is proudly presented by the annual staff to depict Wyanet High School . . . its activities, work, laughter, and tears; its groups as well as its individuals; those outstanding in and out of the classroom. Presented are its people . . . the leaders as well as those who followed; the scholastic as well as the social; the competitive and the unifying events of the student body.

These Are the People

Striving To Improve

Mr. William Poorbaugh this year fulfilled his fifth year in Wyanet's school systems. Serving as principal of the Wyanet Grade School for two years he then accepted the responsibilities of superintendent of the high school as well.

His knowledge coupled with his concern make him a person of infinite value to the school and the community which he faithfully serves.

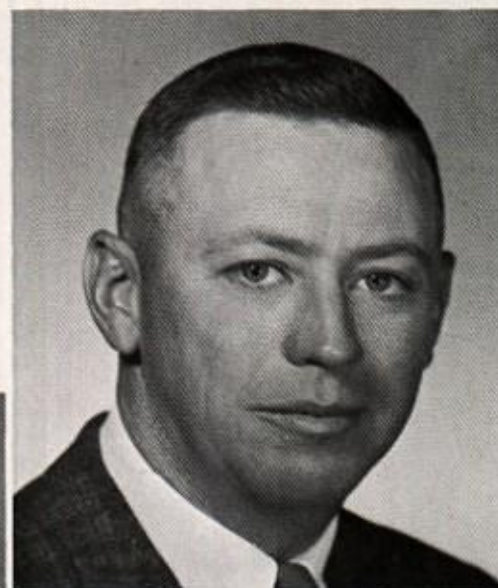

He realizes the importance of today's students, tomorrow's leaders and helps develop rounded personalities and aware citizens. As a former coach he is deeply interested in the school's athletic program.

His witty dry humor and intelligent guidance have left a lasting impression on the students of W.H.S.

Educational Opportunities

Being a board member is a thankless job . . . It's long hours, challenging decisions, and lots of hard work. But because these men are deeply interested in the education of youth they gladly give of their time and effort to insure good educational opportunities for the students of Wyandot High School.

Seniors Enjoy Busy Year,

August 1965 . . . the beginning. No one really felt like a senior, but the role was gladly taken on. This was to be a year to remember. Classes were tackled with astounding ambition. "This is my last year; I'm going to make the most of it." A resolution, in most cases, doomed to extinction by the end of the first six weeks.

Officers Dennis Morse, Janice Bell, Gayle Hornback and Don Prince suddenly found themselves buried in plans for a very busy year. Homecoming was upon us before we realized it . . . tin foil stars, thousands of napkins, chicken wire, paint . . . the parade with its automated floats, the game, the victory, the coronation . . . who could every forget Gridiron Galaxy?

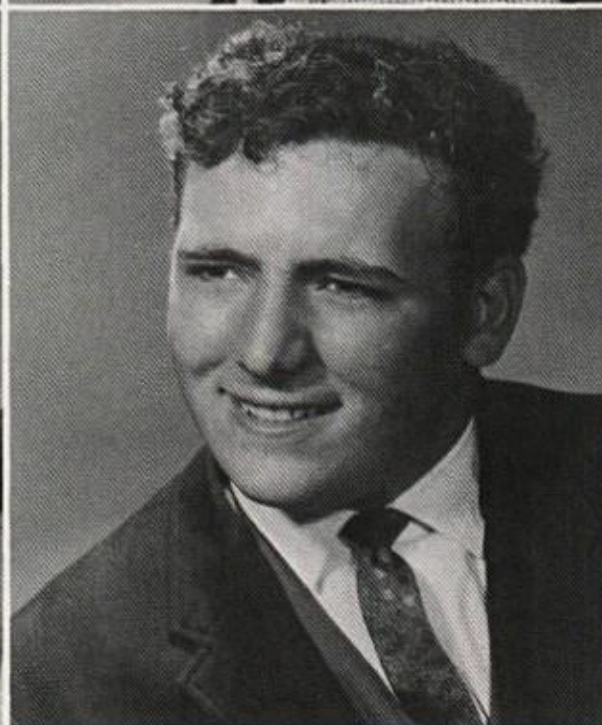

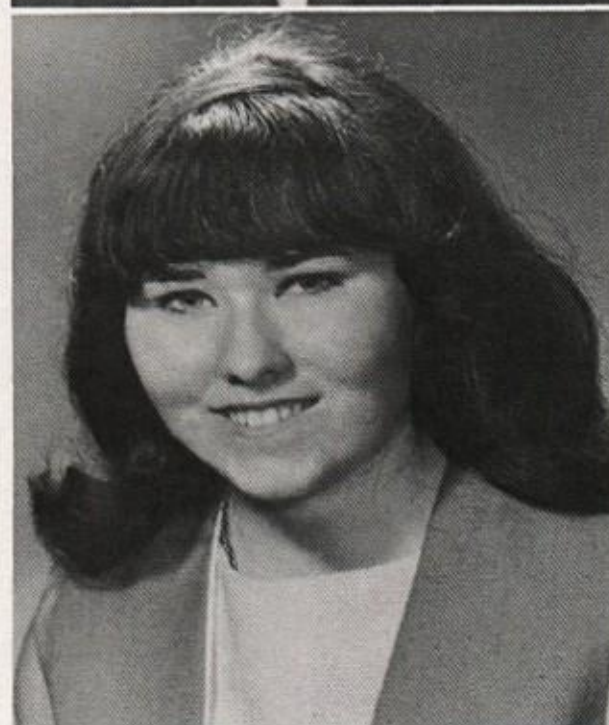

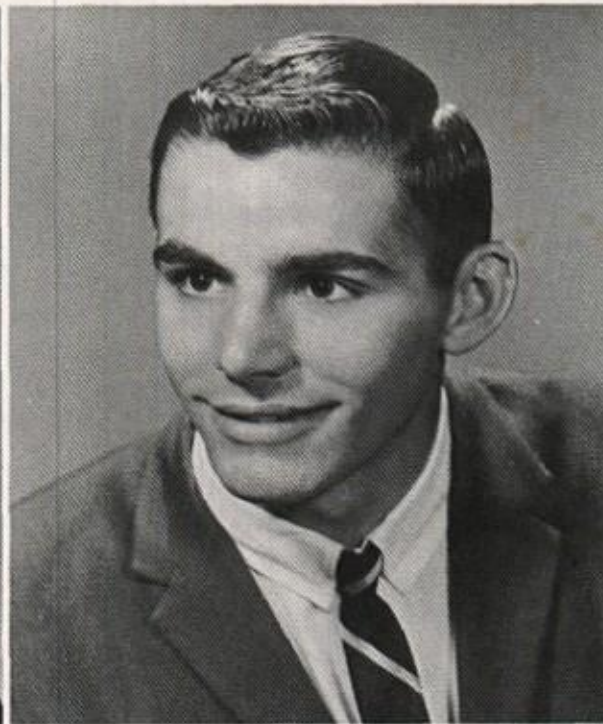

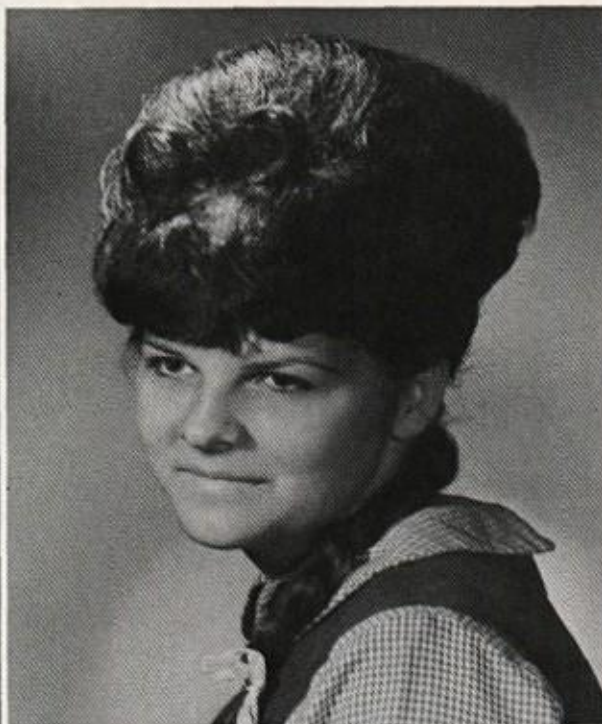

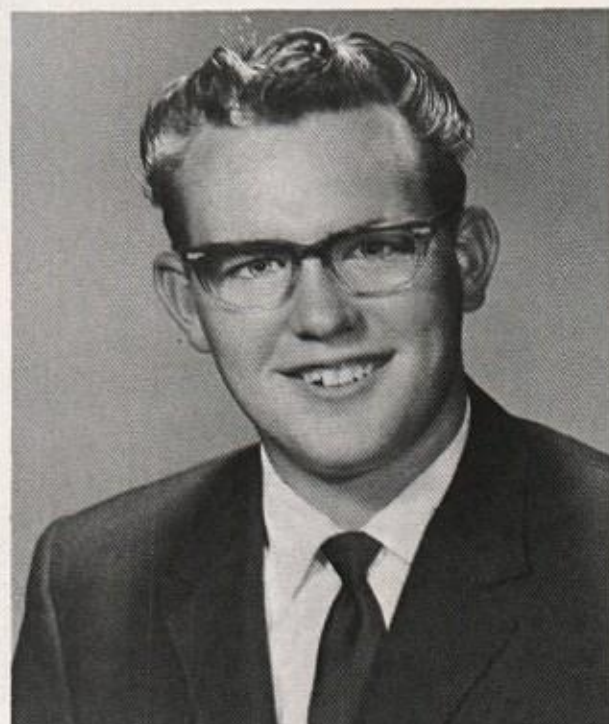

Fall passed, football game by football game; joyous wins and disheartening defeats. Annual ads were solicited and hectic nights were spent racing to meet deadlines for the 1966 Wyhian.

One season passed on to the next, and winter was upon us, complete with Christmas vacation, basketball season, and semester exams. Grades were computed and sent to colleges, while for other seniors it was a time for future job hunting and decision making.

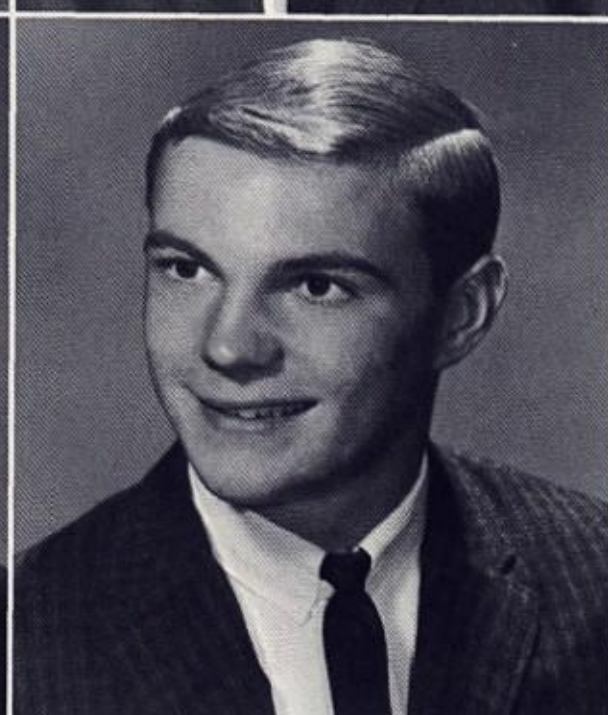

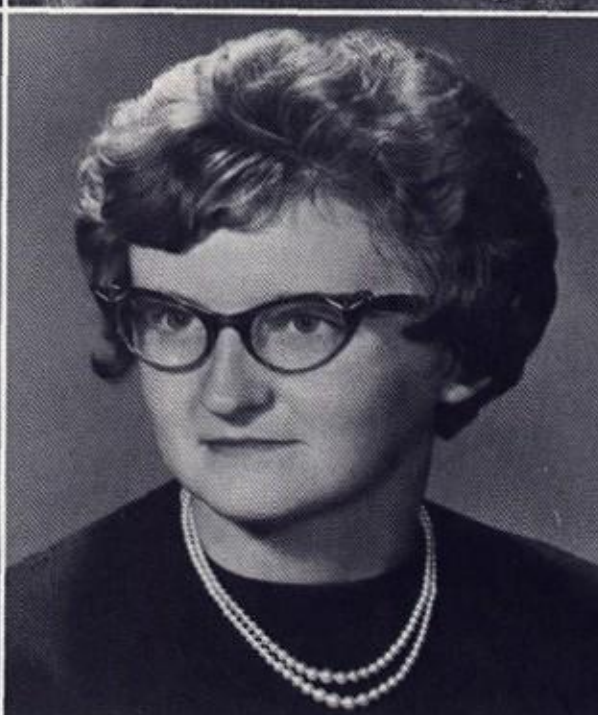

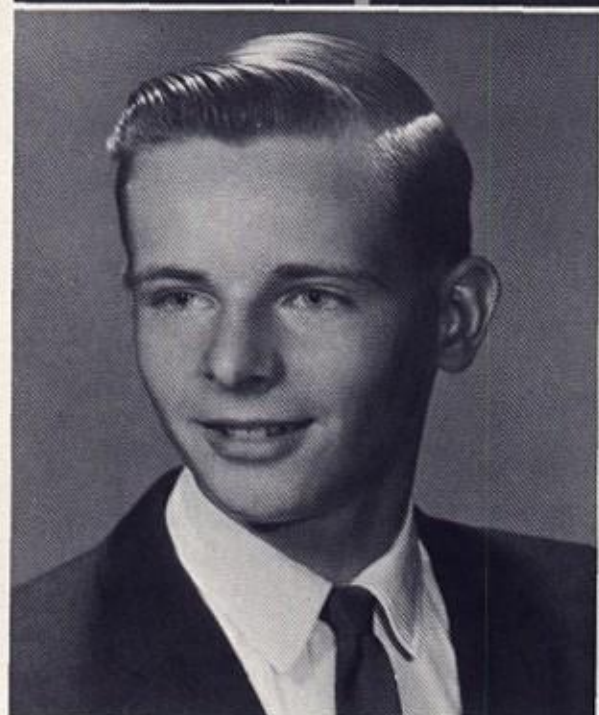

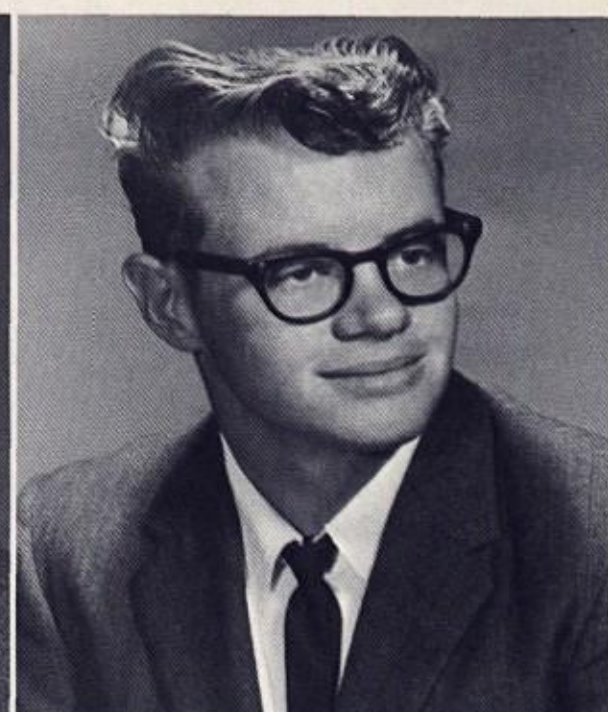

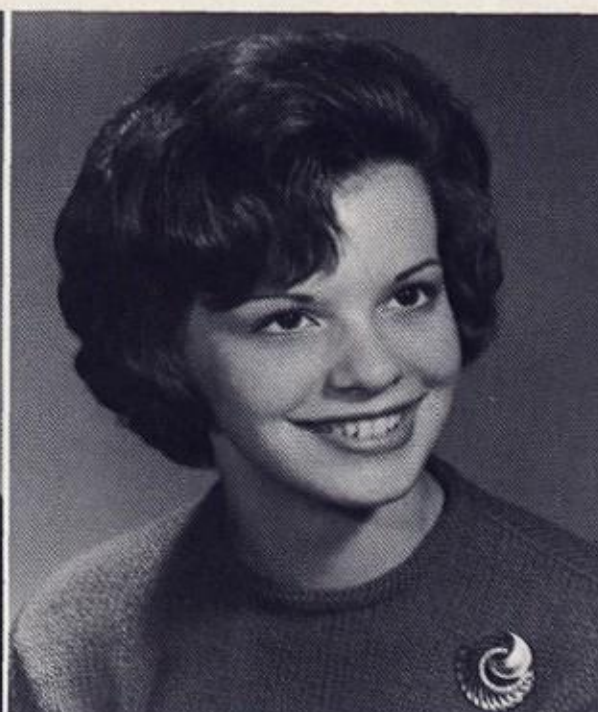

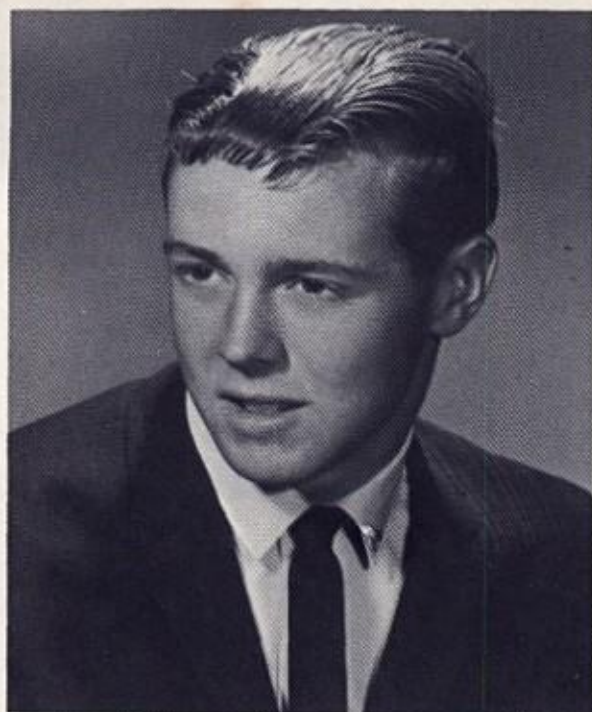

Spring brought new promises, hopes, and achievements. Seniors worked hard to earn medals and honors in track, music and speech contests, knowing this was their last round of high school competition. We enjoyed a glorious Spring Vacation and came back to school anxious for the final swirl of spring's activities . . . the athletic banquet, style show, spring concert, the senior picnic, and the junior-senior prom. And the year began to close. The finale . . . graduation activities which ended a year never to be forgotten.

Juniors Remember Rings, Royalty,

They didn't even have time for the shine to wear off of their new class rings before they were busy working on their float for the Homecoming parade. The shine from their grins was even greater as their self-propelled float captured first prize.

This was the year for royalty in the junior class with Rita Gross reigning as Queen of the Homecoming and Mary Ellen Sanders reigning over the Sweetheart Dance.

Yes, the new upperclassmen found this the busiest, most exciting year yet. They worked hard for successful sock hops, concessions, and other projects in order to finance the junior-senior prom, determined that it would be the best one ever. "Beneath the Southern Moon" set the scene for a gala evening in the Old South . . . romance at its best.

Leading the juniors through their eventful year were Dennis Wiggim, Greg Anthony, Larry Peterson, and Jan Olds, who really got a work out planning and propelling one project after another.

Amid all these activities the juniors still found time for term papers, algebraic expressions, and chemistry formulas, which all added up to a busy year never to be forgotten.

Chaos, Capers, and Co-operation

Sophomores on the Go at WHS

Frogs to dissect, themes to write, theorems to prove, a shop project to finish, or a hearty meal to prepare--these were among the varied class tasks facing the sophomores. But 1965-66 wasn't all work; it was also a time for parties, sock hops, sports, and fun.

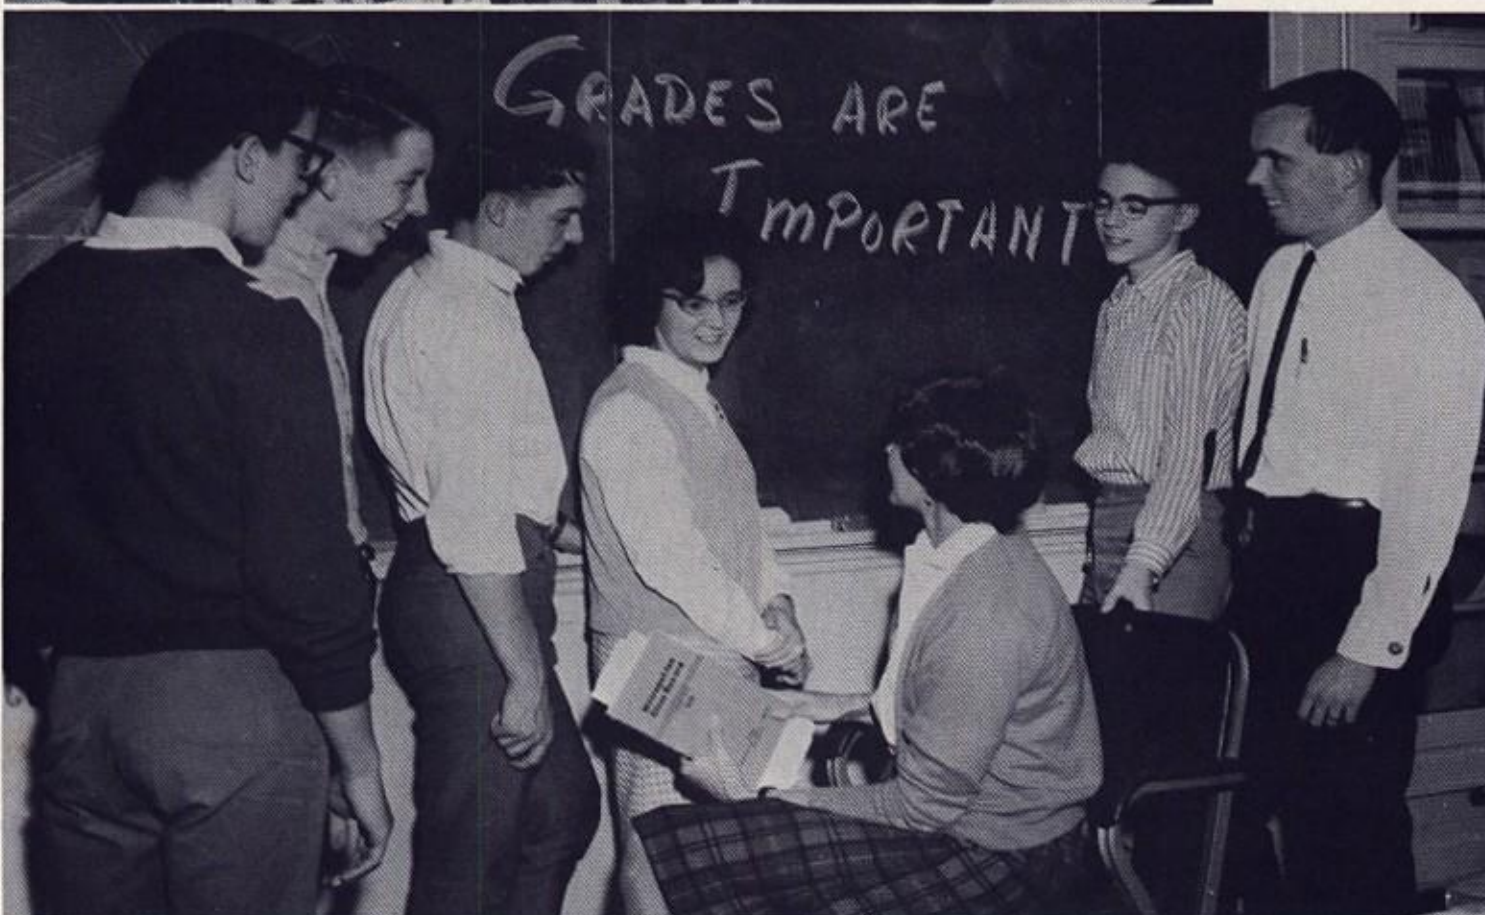

Class officers Janice Krager, Stuart Trumbo, Larry Morse, and Kendall Hamrick organized float committees, planned sock hops, and drafted industrious classmates to man the concession stand at sports events.

Yes, sports, too, were an important part of the sophomore year as the boys led the Junior Varsity to a conference third in football and second place in basketball. The boys also proudly display the second place trophy from the Fresh-Soph Conference Tourney.

Other honors were claimed by sophomores as Linda Towne and Kim Hill represented the class in the homecoming festivities and Jan Krager served as sophomore attendant to the Sweetheart Queen.

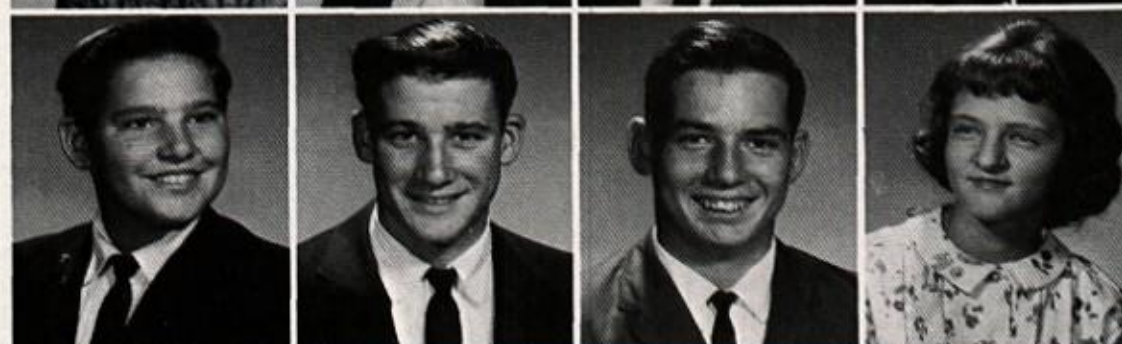

Hard work, added responsibilities, and lots of fun comprised a memorable year at WHS for the Class of '68.

Bewitched, Bothered, and Bewildered

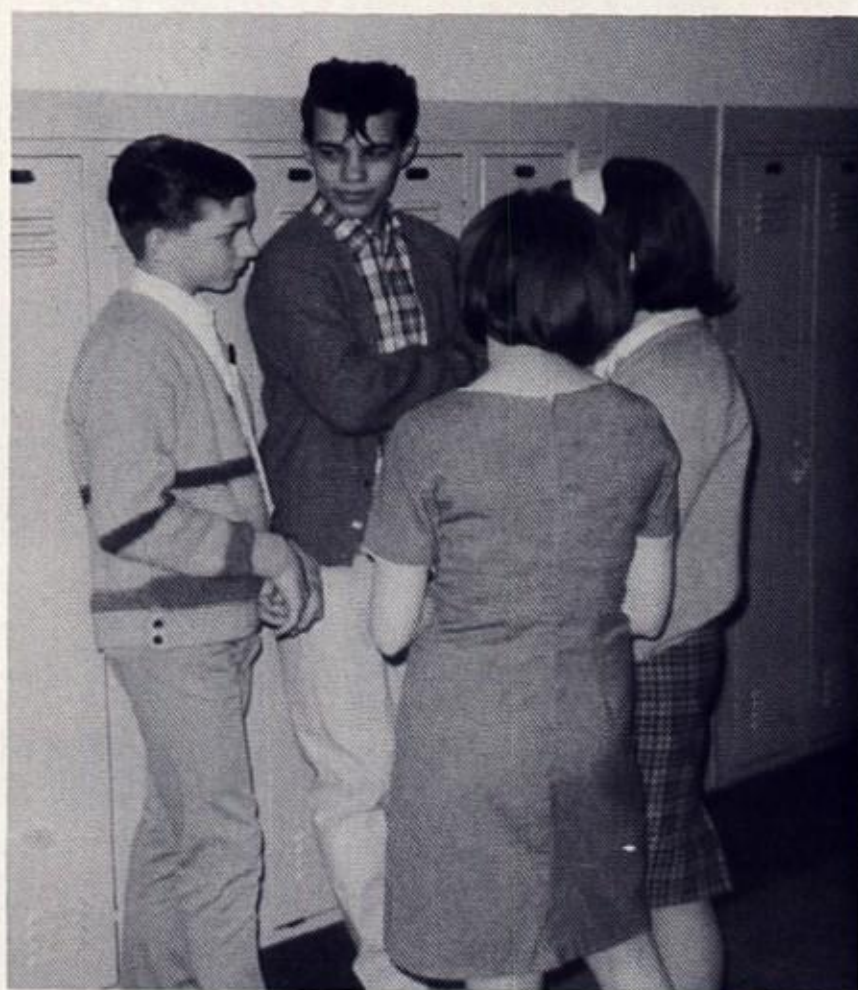

Thirty Freshmen stood on the threshold of four exciting, bewildering, and challenging years. As they entered W.H.S. many obstacles confronted them.

There were many "firsts" for this class . . . first day, first dates, first dances, even first study halls!

Showing wise and mature judgment, the freshmen elected Rick Anderson, president; Beverley Barker, vice-president; Molly Bates, secretary; Carolyn Orwig, treasurer; as class officers.

Looking forward to the future when they will be sophomores, the class of '69 has made an excellent start on their four year journey through W.H.S. Four years of hard work, joys, surprises, and occasionally, disappointment, lie ahead, but whatever they may be, this class has shown us they are and will be a definite addition to W.H.S.

Efficiency Plus . . . Our Office Monitors

Office monitors scurried through the halls, running errands, gathering attendance slips, and delivering messages. During the year each monitor became an excellent telephone answering service, aiding our secretary Mrs. Locey and Superintendent Mr. Poorbaugh.

Also serving W.H.S. were our dependable flag raiser Greg Christiansen and Wayne Sapp who kept Old Glory flying proudly above our school.

With the performance of these duties comes important training that cannot be found in books. Dependability, efficiency, and character are traits instilled in our office assistants.

Wy-Hi-An Expands to 100 Pages

Selling ads, writing copy, taking pictures, designing pages, and most important of all--meeting deadlines! Yes, it's been a busy year for the annual staff. Our business staff worked diligently to meet our advertising goal--and we made it--enough money to expand to 100 pages, making this year's book Wyanet's biggest ever. But filling 100 pages requires many hours of hard work. Almost every picture requires a caption; every organization needs a description . . . this task falls to the hands of our copy staff. Each piece of copy is written and rewritten until it tells the story. The job of designing our pages falls to our capable lay-out staff who have spent many hours drawing dummies and designing 3R forms. With the aid of our advisor Mrs. Hochstatter, and editors Gayle Hornback and Roxana Sapp, the Wyhian staff have combined their efforts to create a yearbook which we hope will help you to recall many of the pleasant experiences and events of 1965-66 at W.H.S.

A WHS Homecoming First . . .

The Junior and Senior self-propelled floats highlighted the 1965 Homecoming parade. These were the first in Wyandot's history, and they proudly took first and second place honors.

It was obvious to parade watchers who lined the streets that the Annawan Braves were going to have a tough time of it as the seniors promised to "Put them in Orbit," the juniors threatened to "Iron 'Em Out," the sophomores pledged to "Bottle 'Em Up" and the freshmen proclaimed that we held the "Key to victory."

Self-Propelled Floats

The smartly dressed W.H.S. band led the way, playing traditional marches and modern pop tunes. Reigning over the parade were Queen Rita and King Larry and their court of honor consisting of Gayle Hornback, Greg Anthony, Linda Towne, Kim Hill, Cindy Anderson, and Rick Anderson.

The faculty's contribution provided a "charmin'" finish--Charmin--the living end!

The lights dimmed on the football field after a stirring homecoming victory, and in a transformed gymnasium stars, silver megaphones, and miniature footballs decorated the ceiling in honor of the cheerleaders, players, and coaches. Our "Mighty Eagle" watched over the victory dance from the south wall.

Queen Rita Gross and King Larry Danielson, with their regal court, reigned over the Gridiron Galaxy--a joyous climax to the '65 homecoming!

Half-Time Shows, Concerts, and Contest

Under the direction of Mr. Johnson the sixty members of the WHS band had a very successful year. From the first football game in the fall to the Memorial Day Parade in the spring, the band worked hard to achieve top-quality performances. Crowds were entertained during football season by the marching band's halftime shows featuring unique formations under the leadership of majorettes Jan Bell, Mary Jeffery, and Loretta Hamrick. The Pep Band added to the spirit of things during basketball season with their snappy tunes and strains of "Loyalty."

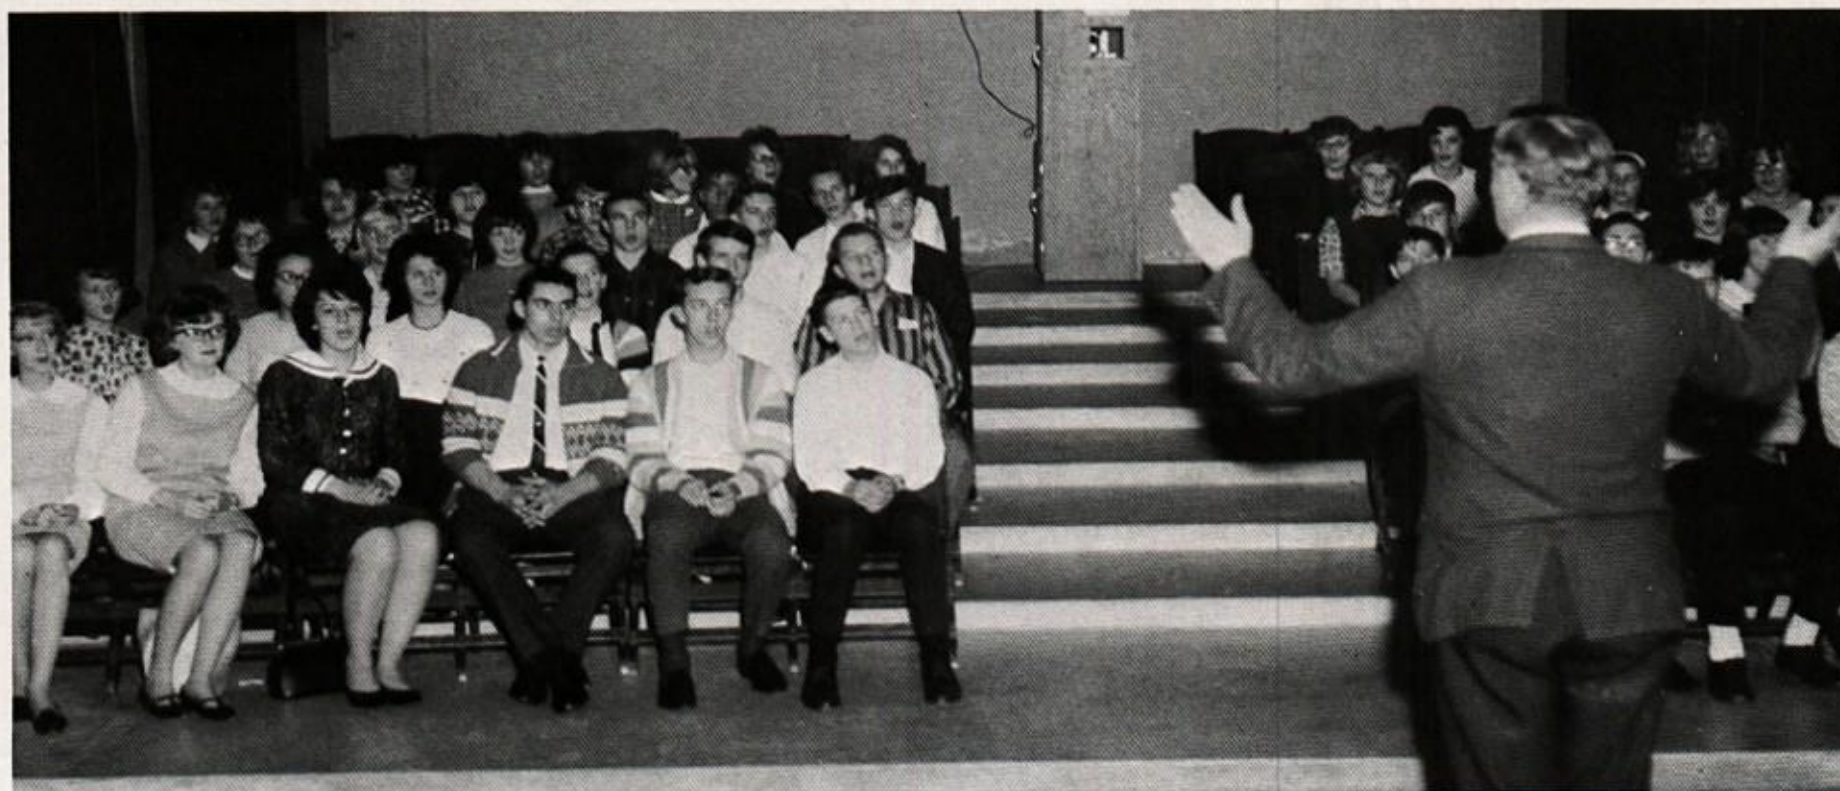

Before the band members had time to rest they were busy preparing their Winter Concert. Springtime found them fervently practicing for solo and ensemble contest and attending tedious band rehearsals in preparation for contest held in April. The Spring Concert, Little 8 Music Festival, and graduation activities concluded a busy year for the band.

Mark Busy Schedule for Musicmakers

The chorus had a new beginning this year as the members were presented with music theory. Extended practice sessions for the entire chorus and extensive drills for smaller groups made this a building year in which members learned the fundamentals of music. The hard work paid off, however, as the chorus became an active organization, beginning the year's performance schedule with the Christmas Concert. Vocal solos and ensembles entered contest in March and the entire chorus participated in the April music contest. 1965-66 was a year filled with knowledge and accomplishments for the choral department.

The air is filled with chatter and the clink of silverware. "Hey, where's the catsup?" "Bring me some butter!" "Pass the pickles!" "Come on, let's go back for seconds!" And when the "seconds" have been devoured, it's ice cream sandwiches, cokes, and candy bars from the concession stand that prime the students for a hard afternoon.

Three Fingers in

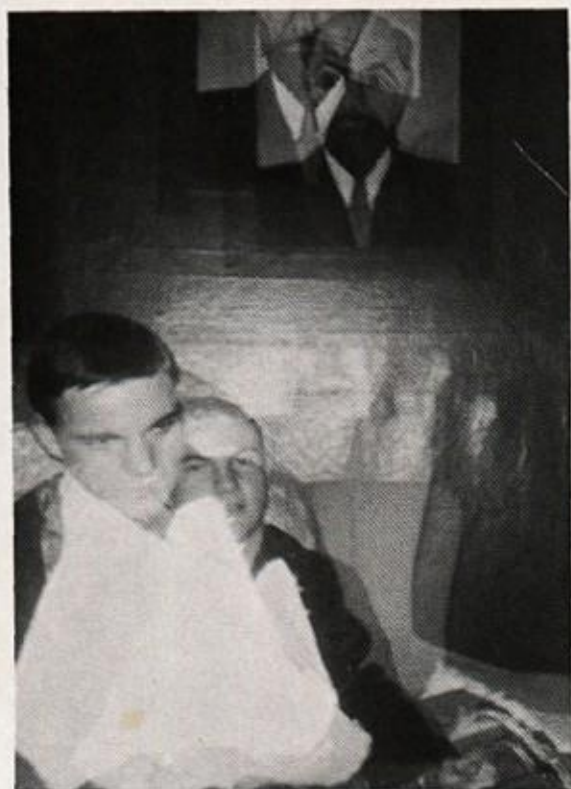

It was a foreboding house, miles from nowhere, creaking with old age and occupied by an ancient man, Mr. Gregory Long. His niece and her friends discover an eccentric couple running the place and make friends with a queer girl who mysteriously waves three fingers in the door. The questions arise: "Who is Three Fingers?, and What is his part in the fiendish plot?" Of course, in the end, the diabolical plan is unraveled and all live happily ever after, except for Three Fingers Mike Denson and his cohorts.

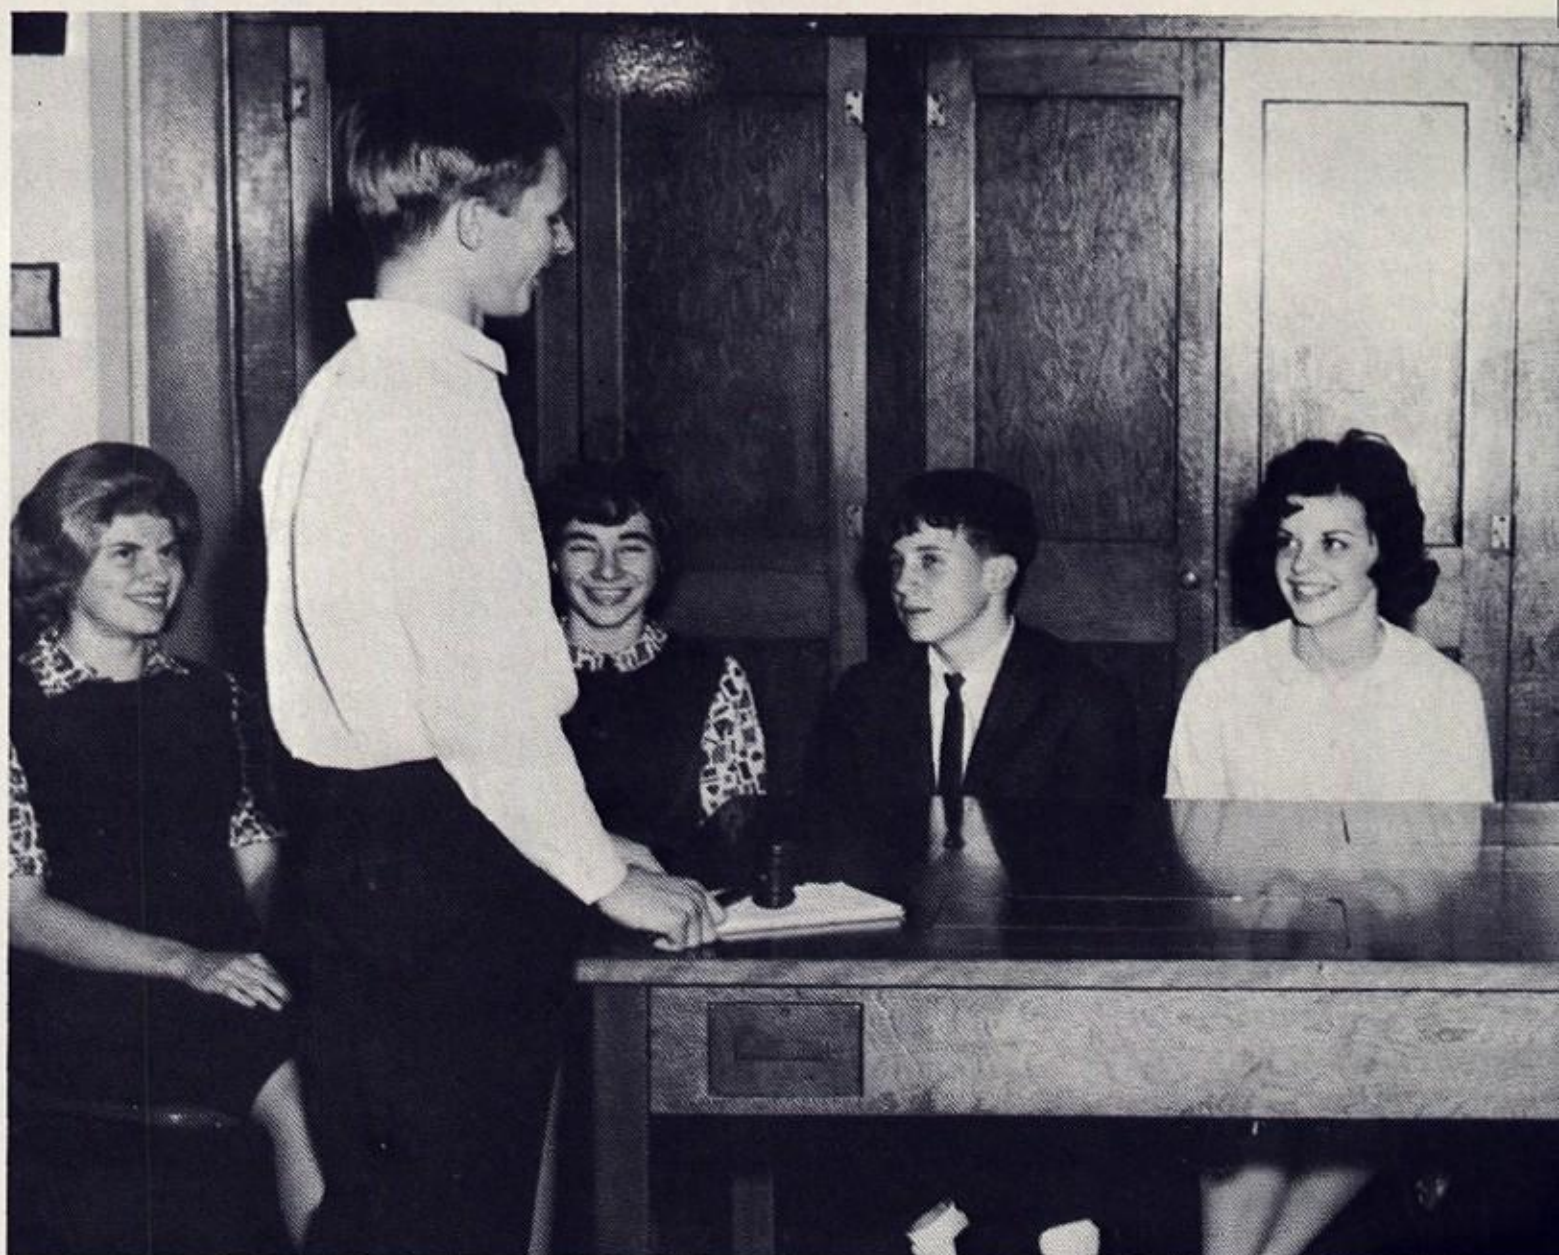

Backstage an agile crew dimmed lights, and provided moans, screams, thunder, and lightning to help with the weird mood of the mystery comedy.

Included in the cast were: Greg Anthony, Larry Danielson, Rita Gross, Kendall Hamrick, Loretta Hamrick, Steve Hamrick, Jan Krager, Dennis Morse, Roxana Sapp, Pam Stephenson, and Kathy Swanson. The play was directed by Miss Patricia Hazeltine.

Activities, Advancements, Add Up to Successful

Under the competent leadership of President Larry Danielson, the Student Council has efficiently represented the student body and initiated the new honor study hall and other school policies.

Along with their normal duties of operating the noon concession stand for famished students and sponsoring a series of informative, entertaining assemblies, they decorated the Christmas tree and arranged a "Swinging" Christmas party featuring the Classics.

A first for W.H.S. and the Student Council was an all-school skating party, which, although filled with spills, was one of the most popular activities of the year. Under the able supervision of advisors, Mrs. Hochstatter and Mr. Crandall, the Student Council has enjoyed a successful, satisfying year.

FHA girls are always on the go with activities ranging from a carefully planned Sweetheart Dance to a hastily-called committee meeting. Freshman girls were initiated into the swing of FHA at a bowling party held in their honor on the first day of school. All the girls were soon involved in a whirl of excitement, selling mums for Homecoming, making tray favors, tree for Prairie View, and planning for the Sweetheart Dance . . . a Wonderland by Night. "Dad" was honored in March as the girls entertained their fathers at Daddy-Date Night . . . volleyball, relays and food for all. April's highlight, FHA Week, was filled with varied activities, with the girl's honoring each teacher with a red rose, the flower of the organization. Mothers were guests of honor at the Mother and Daughter Banquet and Style Show when the girls modeled their newly-constructed garments underneath the Southern Moon. Although this was the final event for the organization, the girls were already looking ahead by initiating new officers who will lead FHA new horizons.

Toward New Horizons

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization set up for girls who are interested in homemaking. Symbolizing their goals, the F.H.A. Emblem bears the motto "Toward New Horizons." In the center a house is supported by a pair of hands, indicating that the homes of tomorrow are in the hands of the youth of today. Red symbolizing strength and courage and white standing for sincerity and purity are their chosen colors. Purposes of the organization are set forth in their F.H.A. Prayer. "We are the Future Homemakers of America. Our destiny as homemakers beckons us toward the new horizons that rim the world. Our vision is eight-fold and world wide. We ask our Father in Heaven to give us strength and will to fulfill our purposes."

This has been a busy year filled with hard work for the Industrial Arts Club, but for all this hard work, the boys were rewarded with a trip to Illinois State University to attend the regional Industrial Arts Exhibit. Members earned money for this trip by refinishing tractors for farmers in the surrounding area.

But all was not work--the club enjoyed a swimming party in Kewanee early in the year. During the winter, the members held intramural basketball games on regularly scheduled sports activities nights. However, all the club's efforts were not self-centered; as a service to the community, they conducted the Salvation Army collection campaign, providing a well-rounded slate of activities for the newly organized club.

On March 18 Mary Ellen Sanders, junior, was inducted as a full member, and Kendall Hamrick and Stuart Trumbo, sophomores, were initiated as provisional members for 1966-67 by taking the oath of the N.H.S. "I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of the National Honor Society to which I have been elected; I will be true to the principles for which it stands; I will be loyal to my school; and will maintain and encourage High standards of Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service."

"Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested," reflected Sir Francis Bacon. Our W.H.S. library offers a wide variety of literature for the many interests and choices of the student.

Student librarians worked vigorously keeping books and magazines in order, for the students' use and enjoyment.

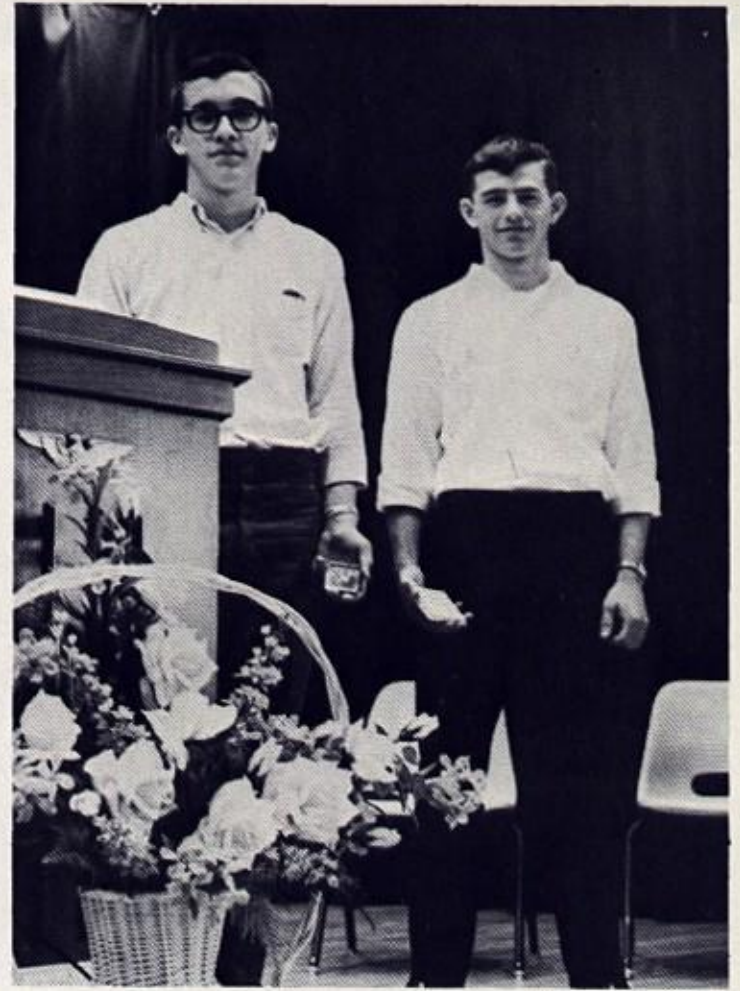

Charging books, reading shelves, and filing cards completed only a few of the librarians' tasks. Under the steady guidance of Mrs. Hamrick, supervising librarian, each student librarian acquired many skills in library care.

The efficient service of the student librarians helped make an orderly and enjoyable school library.

High Scholastic Aims

Stuart Trumbo received recognition for the highest math achievement and Alan Madison claimed the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award.

Country Companies Trophies for excellence in Home Economics and Industrial Arts were awarded to Donna Anderson and Donald Prince. Jean West was named Betty Crocker Homemaker.

Underclassmen recognized for outstanding scholarship were Ann Scharff, Carol Aruuckle, Phyllis Scharff, Roxana Sapp, Beverly Barker, Mary Sanders, Stuart Trumbo, Kendall Hamrick, and Edward Maupin.

New Scoreboard Registers

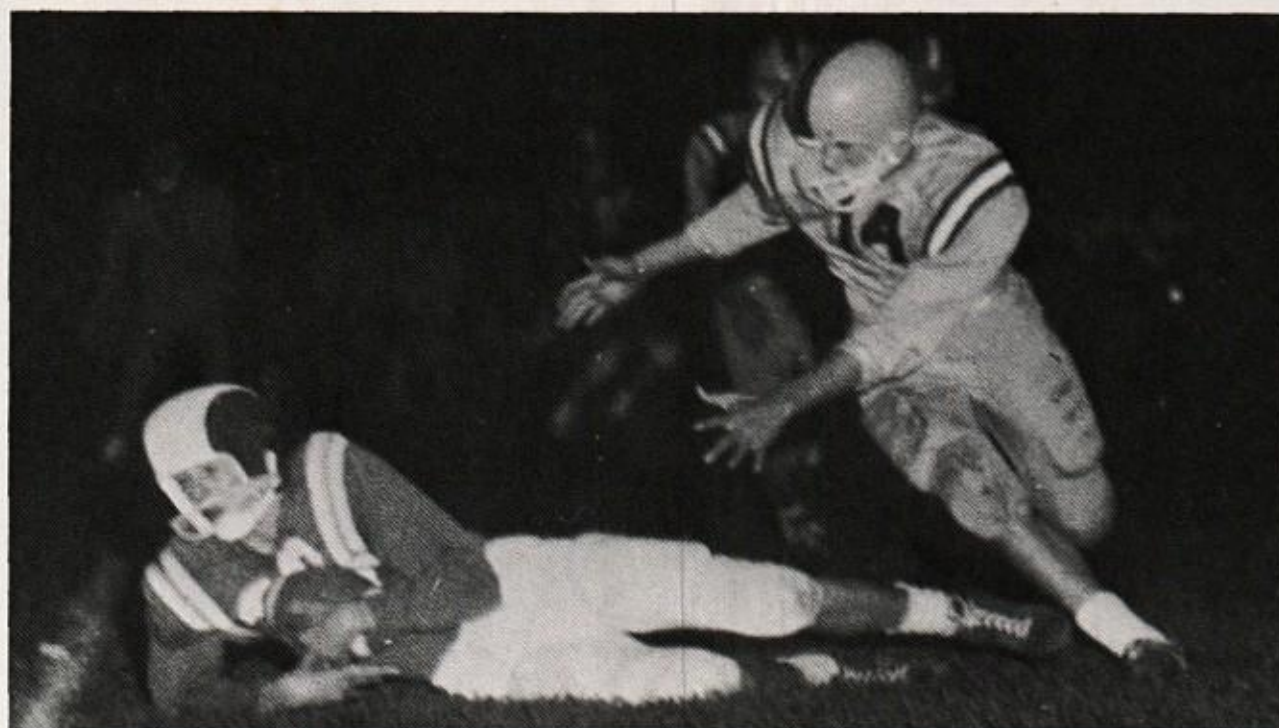

Depth was the key word in the 1965 football season, as injuries riddled the Eagle squad. Ten varsity players fell prey to injuries, many of them lost for the major part of the season. Coach Crandall's back-up squad played hard to fill the varsity's shoes. Determination was rewarded however, as the team emerged with a season record of 6-4; a conference record of 5-3--a creditable fourth place.

Excited fans followed the Eagles throughout the season and cheered the team onward as they battled for victory.

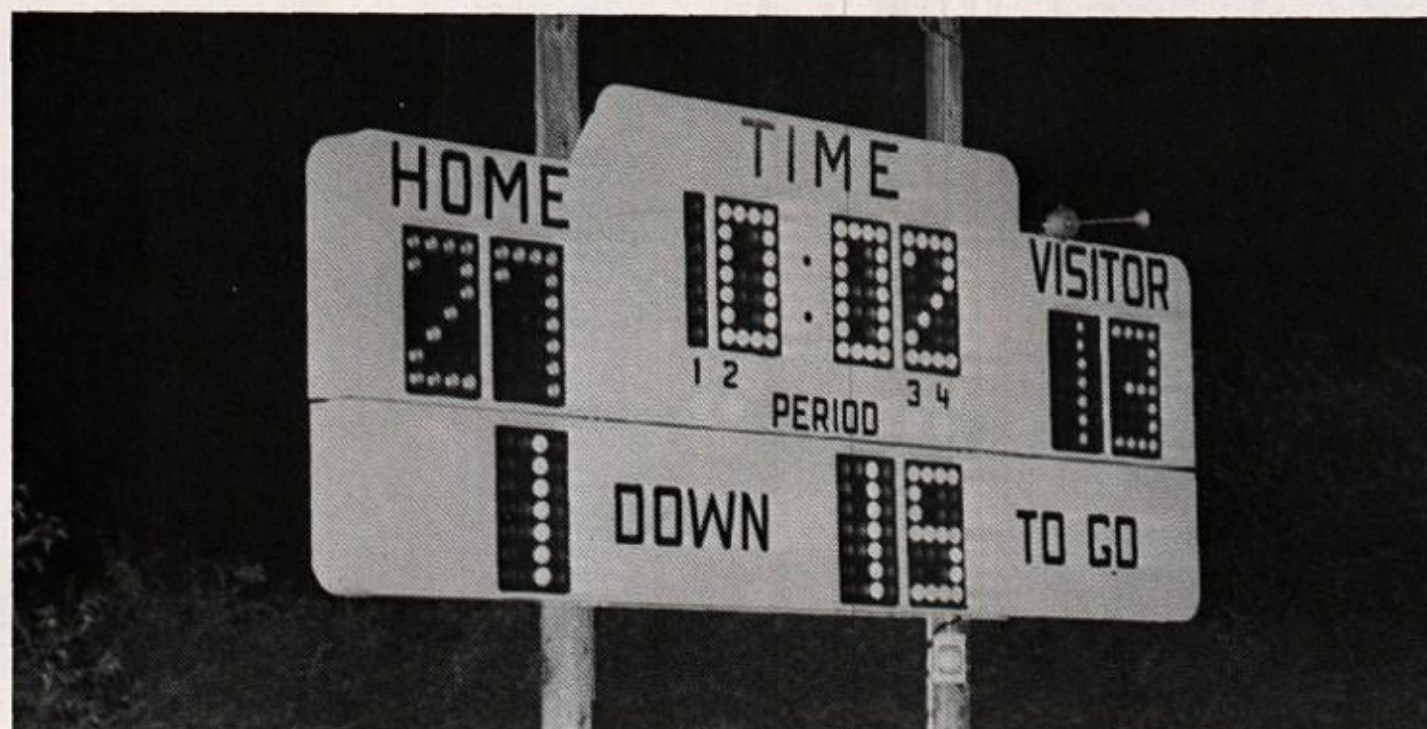

New this year was the large lighted scoreboard which kept the crowd well informed on scores, downs, and minutes to play. The much-needed scoreboard was provided by The Eagle Booster Ten Dollar Club, loyal fans of the Eagle squad.

Wyanet Cagers Earn

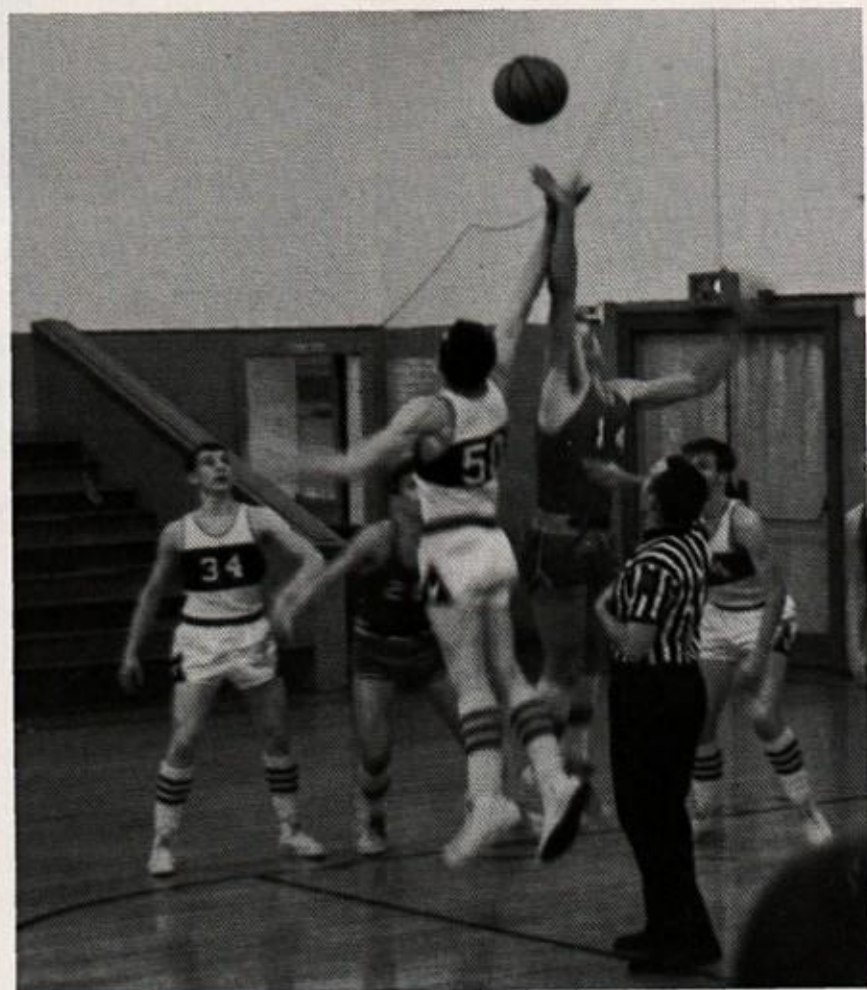

The junior varsity basketball team completed a terrific season under the coaching of Al Crandall. With spirit and drive the JV's worked their way through 20 games and finished the season with 17 3 record, which gave them a second place in the Little Eight Frosh-Soph season standings.

Climaxing the season was their last game, a fierce battle with the Annawan Braves for the coveted first place trophy in the Little Eight Frosh-Soph Tournament. Our cagers fought determinedly to the last buzzer but lost the game 33-32, an exciting finish for an exciting season.

The J.V.'s have a successful record behind them and now look forward to the chance of playing varsity ball and making their seasons equally successful.

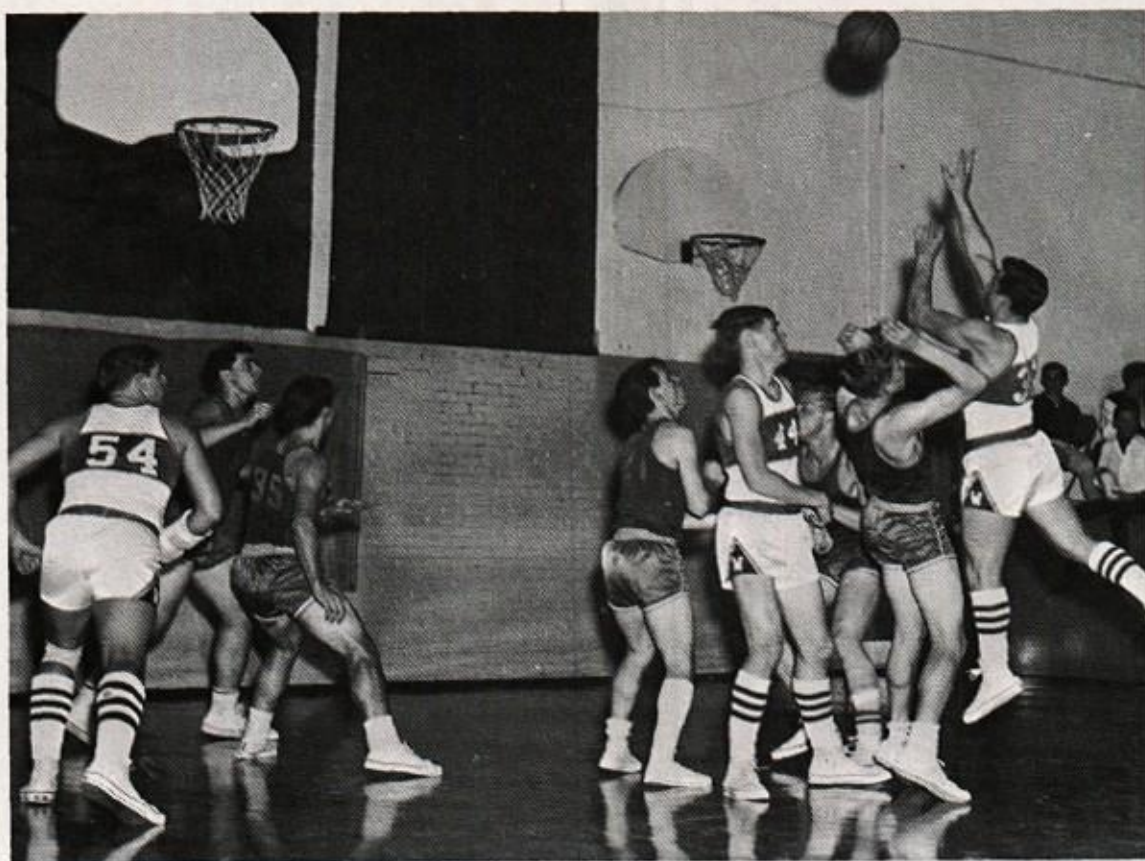

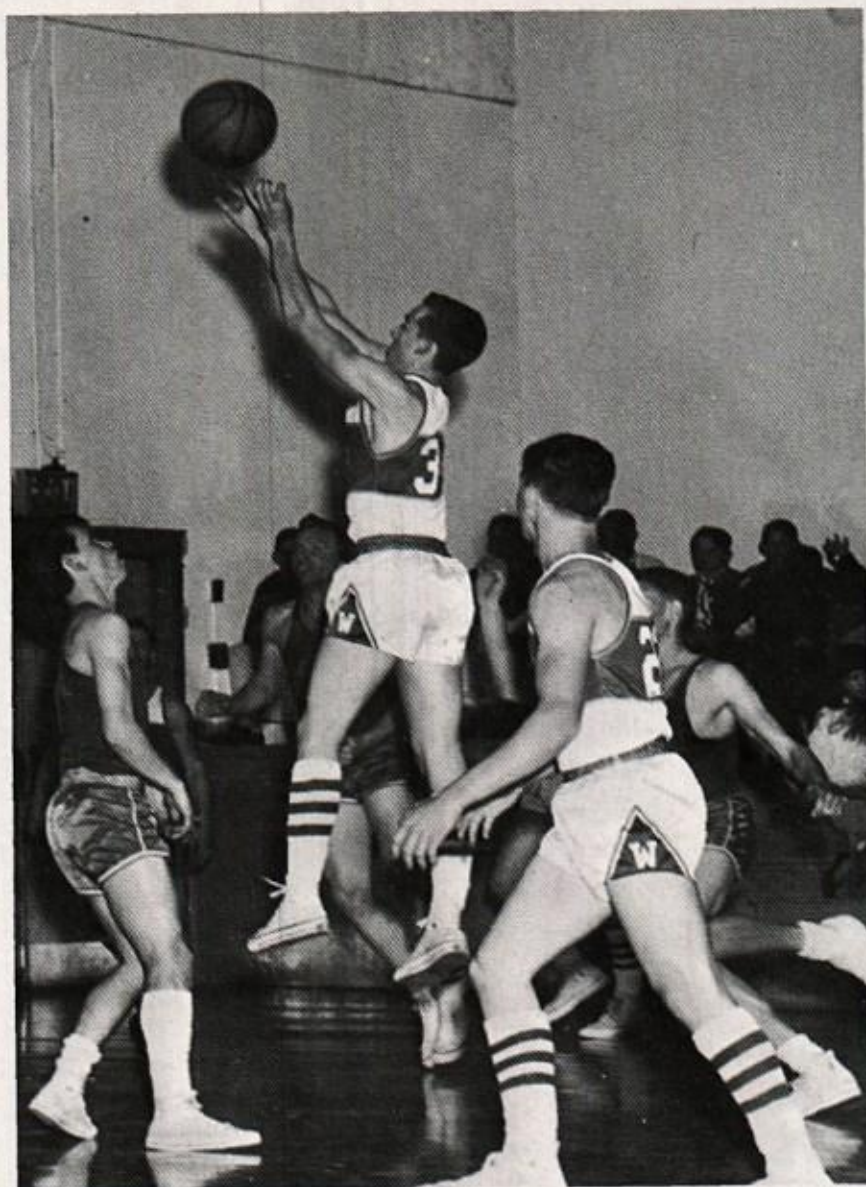

Numerals and Letters

The Wyant cagers began the season with promising victories in the first two games. Our hopes were still high when there followed a series of excitingly close games with some of our toughest competitors. The Eagles attended the Cambridge Invitational Tournament this year for the first time and proudly brought home the fourth place trophy.

Spirited crowds enthusiastically backed the team throughout the entire season, but Lady Luck deserted the Eagles, and they finished with a 5-17 season record.

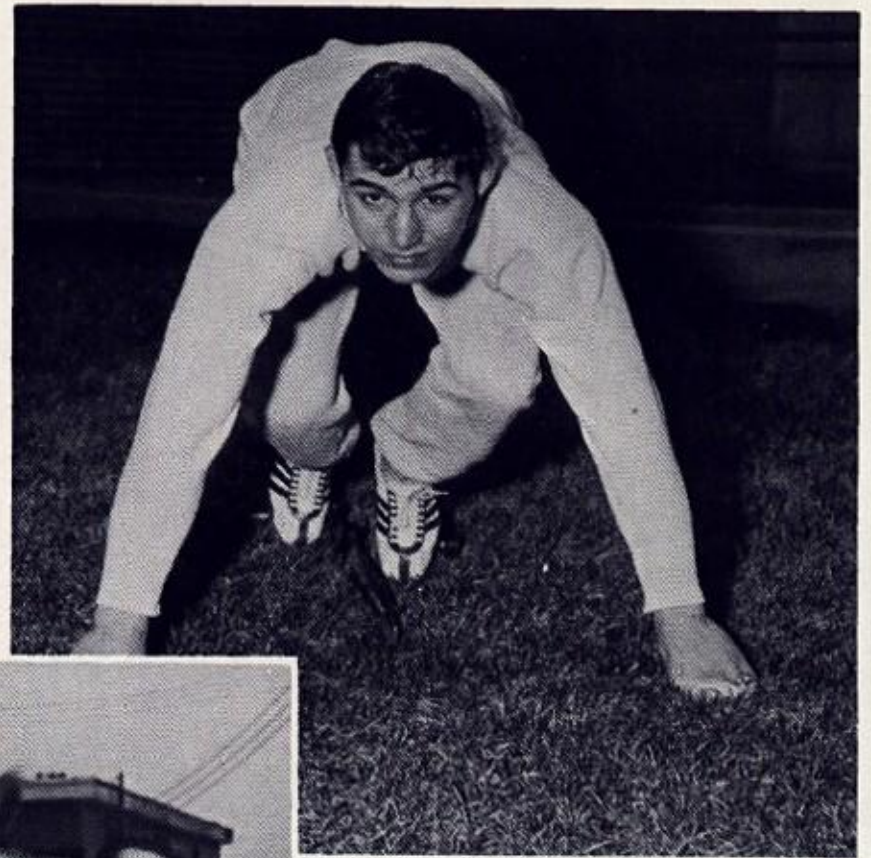

Eagles Soar to Heights

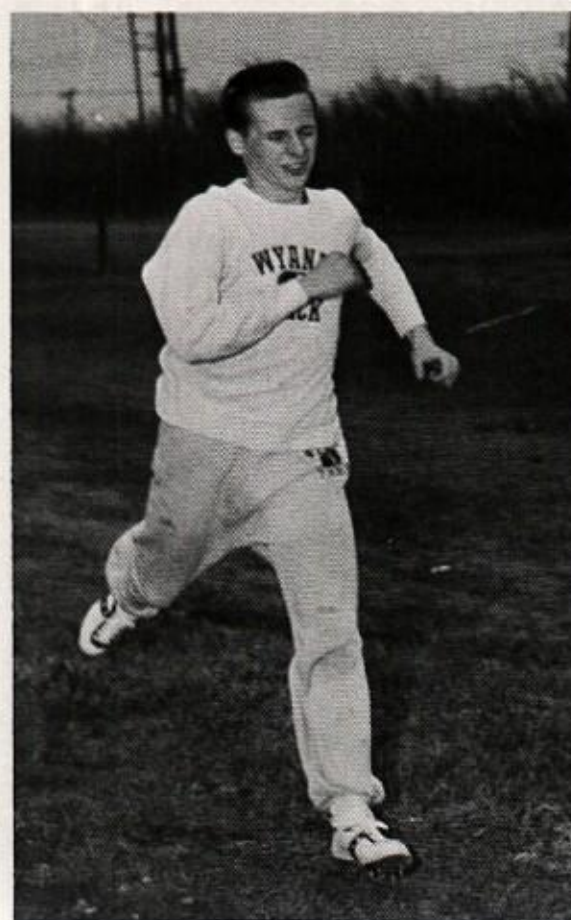

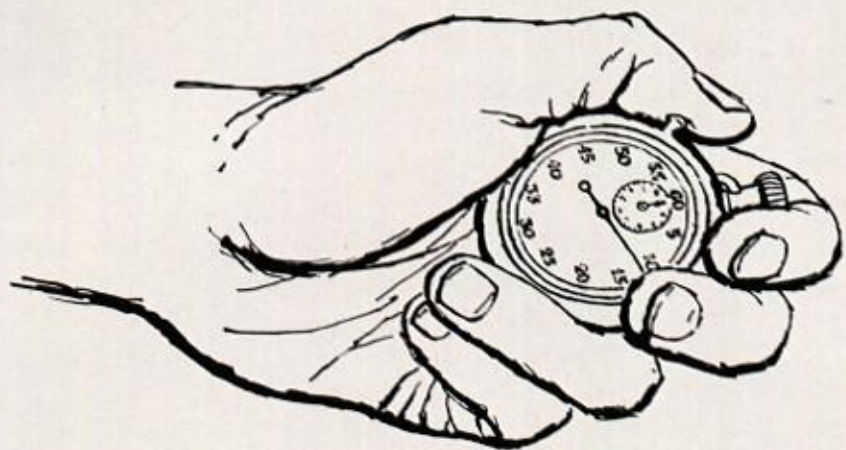

Points added up rapidly as the Eagles scored success after success at the track meets this season. A strong nucleus of lettermen and ambitious newcomers were the key to the tracksters title-winning aspirations. Top point-getters for the '66 cindermen were speedster Bob Morris, miler Larry Danielson, hurdler Steve Day and high-jumper Bill Bulthuis. Supporting these individuals were stalwart field competitors.

Track events illustrate good team work as well as individual skill, and team efforts paid off as our relay teams sprinted to successful team victories.

During Track Season

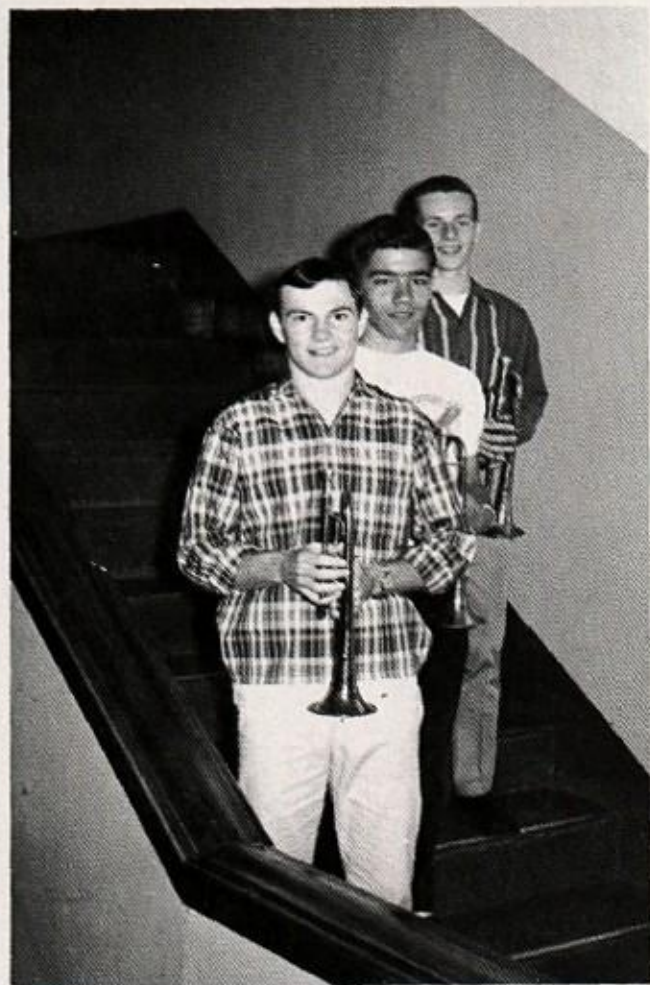

Contest Offers Musical

It's contest day--a flurry of anticipation, excitement, disappointment, and satisfaction. After rising early and surviving a bumpy bus ride, the anxious contestants finally reach their destination, eager to "get it over with." Frantic hunts for contest rooms, homerooms, the cafeteria, and the repair shop follow, symbolizing a typical, hectic day. "I left my music in Wyand!" "My horn won't play!" "Where is my reed?" . . . problems after problems occur before the day is finally over. The nervousness of playing or singing one's long-practiced piece is often well worth the effort when the ratings appear. But whether the score is superior, excellent, good, fair, or poor, everyone has experienced a part of high school never to be forgotten.

Challenges

The Delights of

Early on the frosty morning of February 12, five sleepy-eyed speech contestants and Mrs. Hochstatter journeyed to Ottawa Township High School for the District Speech Contest. Entries varied from serious oratories to animated comedy readings. "The Open Window," a prose reading was Jan Bell's entry. Gayle Hornback presented a thought-provoking oratorical declamation entitled, "Education: the Worth of the Individual." Loretta Hamrick won fifth place with a serious reading from "The Glass Menagerie." Linda Etheridge, presenting a cutting from the comedy "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," complete with bombastic father, fretful mother, and two girls trying very hard to appear cosmopolitan placed second in comedy reading. Steve Hamrick with a timely, informative radio newscast also took second place honors. With their placings, Steve and Linda won the privilege of advancing to sectional contest in Peoria. Following contest season, many of these selections were presented at clubs and programs in the area.

Dramatic Efforts

Beaming smiles lit the faces of everyone from stars to stagehands as "Our Hearts Were Young And Gay" was awarded the coveted first place trophy in the Little Eight One-Act Play Contest. In addition to the accomplishments of the cast, Linda Etheridge won the best actress medal and Rita Gross was presented the "best individual of the entire contest" award for their delightful portrayals of Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimborough. The play, directed by Mrs. Jerry Hochstatter, was the second act of the lighthearted comedy which depicts the antics of Cornelia Skinner and Emily Kimborough--two teenage girls off to Europe in the 1920's. Authentic flapper dresses and panama suits added to the fun of the colorful production. Members of the cast and crew included: Linda Etheridge, Rita Gross, Steve Hamrick, Dennis Morse, Kendall Hamrick, Dennis Feurer, Mary Jeffery, Gayle Hornback and Don Prince.

Keen Competition Creates Rewards

Proudly displaying sports trophies won during the 1965-66 seasons are track captains Larry Danielson and Bob Morris (Tiskilwa Invitational Track Meet, 1st place), Basketball captain Dennis Morse (Cambridge Holiday Tournament, 4th place), and Junior Varsity Co-captains, Bill Bulthius and Kim Hill (Little 8 Conference, 2nd place)

In recognition for outstanding performances in sports the following trophies were presented:

Tackling Trophy--Bill Bulthius
Free-Throw Trophy--Dennis Jeffery
Track Trophy--Bob Morris
Sportsmanship Trophy--Larry Danielson

Council president Larry Danielson smilingly accepts the 1st place conference trophy from members of the cast of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

On behalf of the band, Kathy Swanson presents the first place plaque to Larry Danielson, president of the student council.
